Introduction

The Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering of Sri ManakulaVinayagar Engineering College, an autonomous institution located in Puducherry, organized a one-day seminar on "Engineering Innovation for a more Resilient World" on March 10, 2023. The seminar was organized in association with The Institution of Engineers (India), Puducherry State Center.

Certificate and Awards Distribution

The seminar began with the distribution of certificates and awards for the Advanced Java and JavaScript courses conducted by the Department of Electronics and Communication Engineering. The Chief Guest distributed the certificates and awards to the participants.

Keynote Speaker

After the certificate and award distribution, the keynote address was delivered by C. Gnanavel, Senior Manager - LME PMO (Project Management Organization) at Lenovo India Pvt. Ltd. Mr. Gnanavel was an expert in the field of project management and had several years of experience working in the IT industry. His talk provided insights into how engineering innovation could be used to build a more resilient world.

Special Address

The seminar was graced by the presence of Dr. B. Radjaram, FIE, Chairman of IE(I), PSC, and Dr. S. Thirougnaname, FIE, Honorary Secretary of IE(I), PSC, who delivered a special address. Their presence added value to the proceedings and inspired the attendees.

Felicitations

The event was felicitated by Dr. J. Abbas Mohaideen, Registrar of SMVEC. About the contribution of the field of engineering was acknowledged during the felicitation ceremony.

Event Coordinators

Dr. P. Raja, Professor and Head of ECE, delivered the gratitude note. Dr. L. M. Varalakshmi, Convenor of IE(I) Student Chapter and Professor and Head of ICE, Mrs. R. Gayathri, Assistant Professor of ECE, and Dr. N. Jothy, Associate Professor of ECE, were part of the organizing team and ensured the smooth functioning of the event.

Conclusion

The one-day seminar on "Engineering Innovation for a more Resilient World" was an excellent opportunity for students and professionals to learn from experts in the field and gain insights into how engineering could be used to build a more resilient world. The event was informative and inspiring, and attendees took full advantage of this opportunity.
